NEW YORK: REAL ESTATE

REAL ESTATE NEW YORK

Our multi-disciplinary real estate team delivers successful transactions through a combination of technical excellence, industry knowledge and superior client service.

Comprehensive services

Working across the full spectrum of real estate transactions, we represent owners, developers, investors – private and institutional - including major insurance companies, private equity houses and family offices, developers, REITs, landlords, tenants, lenders and borrowers. Our expertise encompasses all segments of the real estate market, including the sale, acquisition, development, financing, and leasing of office, retail, hotel, industrial and mixed-use properties.

Integrated support

We work throughout the entire property life-cycle. Our multi-disciplinary team includes corporate, tax and litigation attorneys enabling us to provide advice on every aspect of real estate transactions from tax structuring of domestic and international real estate investments; negotiating acquisitions and dispositions; leasing for landlords and tenants including hotel operating agreements; joint ventures and real estate funds; planning; design, engineering, and construction contracts.

We have particular expertise in development projects where we provide end-to-end support advising from initial site assembly through planning, construction and financing to end-user unit sales and leases.

Our work in real estate finance includes construction loans and senior and mezzanine finance for lenders and borrowers as well as equity investments.

Commercially balanced

We deliver relevant, risk assessed and commercially balanced advice. This is particularly important in an industry such as real estate which is subject to a myriad of complexities and includes participants with vastly competing requirements.

Global reach

As an international law firm with global reach, we regularly work on multi-jurisdictional matters. We know that even the most local transaction can have cross-border implications, so our experts in areas such as tax, cross-border investment and competition law are on hand to assist where needed, including, for example, on complicated matters involving the taxation and repatriation of investments in local real estate transactions.

Our New York real estate team is part of a wider global real estate practice comprising 28 partners in 14 offices around the world, who are supported by an even larger number of associates, trainees and paralegals at all levels of seniority. Consequently, we have the breadth and depth of resources to handle even the most complex matters.
