

WFW DEALS WIN AT 'THE ASSET TRIPLE A INFRASTRUCTURE AWARDS 2021'

13 AUGUST 2021 • AWARD

Watson Farley & Williams ("WFW") is delighted to announce that two deals the firm advised on won awards at 'The Asset Triple A Infrastructure Awards 2021', both relating to the booming Taiwanese renewables sector.

The award-winning deals WFW advised on were:

- Changfang/Xidao Wind Power Company NT$90bn offshore wind project financing was named 'PPP Deal of the Year – Global' and 'PPP Deal of the Year – Taiwan' and on which a cross-border WFW team in London, Hong Kong and Singapore advised the lenders. This market-leading US$3bn deal included the largest debt package raised in the Taiwanese offshore wind market to date and was also recently named 'IJGlobal Asia Pacific Project Finance & Export Finance Deal of the Year 2020'; and
- Vena Energy solar power project financing, which is understood to be Taiwan's largest private ground mount utility scale solar project to date, was named 'Renewable Energy Deal of the Year-Ground-Mounted Solar' for the second consecutive year in a row. A team from WFW Singapore advised Taiwan's DBS Bank on the NT$2.44bn term loan and performance bond facilities transaction.

Based in Hong Kong, The Asset is a well-known business news and research organisation, delivering authoritative, unbiased and independent coverage on Asia's financial sector. You can see a full review of all this year's award-winning deals here.