Biography:

Alex is a Senior Associate in the Dispute resolution group.

Alex specialises in offshore energy, shipbuilding, construction and offshore installation disputes (both upstream and downstream). He advises on and litigates disputes for field owner/operators, offshore contractors, and shipyards and vessel owners in both arbitration and High Court formats.

Alex has also handled live-casualty incidents involving loss of life, physical damage and third party damage both in-port and offshore, from initial attendances through to arbitration and High Court determination, including experience of Lloyd's Open Form salvage proceedings.

Alex also spent time in a major European shipyard advising on an FPSO conversion which suffered significant delay and disruption.

Alex has assisted IOCs, National Oil Companies and Independent players in disputes in locations from Europe to the Caribbean, South America and more recently in South-East Asia.

Alex previously worked in the Marine & International Trade team at Stephenson Harwood in London before relocating to Singapore.
